

GaneTime for Windows Time & Attendance System

GaneTime for Windows incorporates many new features and streamlines many of the existing features of GaneTime. It accesses the same database as our Unix product and contains many of the features of the original GaneTime, but in the more familiar user environment of Windows. This arrangement allows us to maintain the functionality and power of our original product whilst combining greater ease of use.

One major advance in GaneTime for Windows is the inclusion of built-in badge design and printing facilities. This feature allows greater flexibility and faster turnaround for employee inductions. Simple badge designs can be created easily and the user can print a clock badge, or access control badge, directly from GaneTime software. Many previously multi-screen tasks can now be accomplished from a single screen, reducing the time taken for data entry and improving overall ease of use.

For more information on the GaneTime for Windows application, or to arrange a demonstration of the application itself, please contact our office.
